GERMANS DECLARE NO MODIFICATION RESISTANCE IN RUHR

Formal Statement Through U. S. Embassy—Say Germany as Determined to Resist French Coercion as Ever

CUNO RETURNS FROM TOUR OF OCCUPIED TERRITORY

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Through its embassy here the German government today formally denied that its policy of resistance to French occupation of the Ruhr had been modified and declared on the contrary "unanimous resistance on the part of Germany isst eadily growing."

By Associated Press

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—Chancellor Cuno returned today from a tour of the occupied Ruhr area. He said he was convinced the determination of the population to the French coercive measures was just as firm today as when occupying forces entered Essen January 11.

COMMUNITY SERVICE COVERS WIDE RANGE OF ACTIVITIES

Community service covers a wide rangeg of activities, according to Mrs Elizabeth Handley, who is in the city in the interest of the work. Playgrounds, athletics of all kinds, community music and dramatics are some of the important angles of the work. If the community service plan should be adopted in Middesboro the first step will be to secure the services of an organizer from the headquarters at New York. Various clubs and civic organizations would then take charge of different branches of the work.

"The town is ripe for this work now," said Mrs. Handley, "and I am sure we will have no trouble in getting the work started if the people once become interested in it. If the committee here should decide to adopt the plan, work here should begin by April. We will try to have a childrens' pageant for July 4. Many here have already expressed their desire for this."

RUNAWAY CAR WRECKS HOUSE, NO ONE HURT

Tearing loose from a train of rapidly moving cars, a loaded coal car smashed into the dwelling house of Marshall Crockett at Fork Ridge at 9:30 last night. The porch and front part of the house were completely demolished but Mr. Crockett's family who were sleeping in the house miraculously escaped injury. A broken rail is said to have caused the wreck.

It was a Southern freight train which had picked up several loaded cars at the Fork Ridge mines. The car which did the damage is said to have been the third or fourth from the rear of the train. None of the other cars were wrecked.

Mrs Crockett and other members of the family were sleeping in the front room which was torn asunder by the car The car itself was torn into several pieces.

Soon after the occurrence a wrecking crew was sent to the scene The track was repaired during the night and traffic was resumed on the line this morning.

SO MUCH PERJURY AMERICAN JUSTICE IS THREATENED

Noted Jurist Deplores Dishonesty Which Makes Justice in oCurts Nearly Impossible—to Combat Menace

MORAL COURAGE LESS THAN 35 YEARS AGO

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 6—Greed, love of easy living and a breakdown of moral fiber have made perjury so dominant a factor in American courts that justice is entirely thwarted.

That statement comes from Judge John C. Townes, 15 years dean of the law school of the University of Texas and a lawyer, jurist, writer and educator of nationwide reputation.

And so deadly earnest is Townes that, despite his 70 years, he has resigned his office as dean and will go back to teaching so that he will be more intimately in touch with law students—the lawyers and judges of the future.

By this and by writing and lecturing he hopes to do his bit to combat the menace he is convinced is undermining American justice.

Justice Impossible

"It is almost impossible for courts to render justice today," Townes says

"Time was when men preferred to have their necks broken, rather than to perjure themselves. Times have changed.

"It is a well known fact without testimony prosecution is impossible. And when men and women perjure themselves, coldly, calculatingly and cleverly, truthful testimony is impossible to get.

"It takes moral courage to tell the truth, and moral courage is greviously lacking.

"Love of easy living is causing lawyers to abandon the ethics of their profession and the dictates of their own consciences. Even the public is 'in' on the secret that most testimony nowadays is framed in advance by attorneys, the witnesses merely telling on the stand what their lawyers order them to say.

Result Of War

"The 'hangover' from the war has left its disastrous effects. For four years the world was removed from the sphere of moral domination and was ruled by physical strength, by brute might. It is hard for people to recover their equilibrium.

"Take the lawyer. If any man should uphold the sovereignity of the constitutional government, that man is a lawyer. But instead, many lawyers have allowed themselves to be hoodwinked into being the enemies of the courts and justice by allying themselves with hooded courts.

Property Rights Sacred

There is growing in this country a feeling that the rights of property are more sacred than the rights of life and limb. In a recent decision one of the highest courts of the land virtually declared that all such was lawful and as it should be. It is this feeling, evil and destructive, that I hate and I am going to fight against.

"We need in our courtrooms, in our public life and in our private life more of the rugged honesty which was the priceless treasure of the people 35 years ago."

JUDGE JOHN O. TOWNES

ARE WE LIARS?

Do we Americans tell untruths today more glibly than we did 35 years ago?

Has our conception of honesty degenerated so far that the machinery of justice has been rendered useless by the rust of perjury?

Judge John C. Townes Austin Tex., one of America's most learned jurists, thinks so.

He says:

"It is almost impossible for courts to render justice today. We need in our courtrooms more of the rugged honesty which formerly was our priceless treasure."

That's an indictment of the moral fabric of all American society.

Are we guilty or not guilty?

HARDING POSTPONES MESSAGE A DAY

Will Ask Modification of Debt Funding Law In Statement to Congress Tomorrow

By Associated Press

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—While the weather bureau promises rising temperatures for the upper Ohio valley and north Atlantic states it warned of a return cold wave starting tonight in Florida and Alabama and extending through Tennessee and the Ohio Valley. Freezing temperatures are reported today as far south as the mouth of the Rio Grande in Texas.

PUBLIC STREET FOR COASTING IS REFUSED BY MINIONS OF LAW

Suggestions by members of the school board that a section of Edgewood road be roped off to allow school children to use it for coasting during recreational hours was not carried out by the police department yesterday afternoon. In the absence of Mayor J. H. Keeney, Chief Ball said that he did not wish to take the responsibility of such an action.

It was thought by the police that accidents to motorists might occur as a result of the ropes across the street and that residents living within the roped in section might resent such actions. Failing in this, an attempt was made to secure a hill on Dorchester avenue for the purpose, but the chief likewise refused to rope in a sectio of that street.

CORBIN QUIET NOW IS REPORT

Thirty Guards in City But No Trouble Anticipated—Shops Doing Splendid Work

Everything in Corbin is as quiet as can be now, according to Division Superintendent O B. Hollingsworth who spent yesterday there. About thirty troops from London are stationed in Corbin but no lawlessness or trouble of any kind has resulted since the shooting last week.

The L & N. shops are doing more and better work than ever, in the opinion of N. Feathers, master mechanic there. None of the new employes have left since the shooting and only three, and those laborers have left during the last ten daygs. This is a lower average than normal times before the strike, Mr. Feathers says.

Some of the Corbin people are said to resent the presenc of the troops but most of them seem to think it is the wistest way to insure peace. There are about eight hundred unemployed men in Corbin now and though no trouble is looked for Major Dillon thinks it the best plan to have the troops there.

The McJeltons, believed implicated in the dynamiting at Corbin recently, have not been returned to Corbin yet. The Whitley County grand jury recently returned an indictment against Mrs.McJelton in connection with the matter. This affair is being taken up by the L. & N. in Louisville. Several detectives or otherwise interested persons have been in Corbin working on the case. As the reward, of $8,000 makes it a mystery case of more than ordinary interest.

A THOUGHT

The soul of the sluggard desireth, and hath nothing; but the soul of the diligent shall be made fat.—Prov. 17:14.

Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry all things easy.—Benjamin Franklin.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

A scheme for getting rich quickly occured to Rafael Gonzales, of Orizaba, Mexico. He wrote polite and businesslike letters to American newspapers, ordering 50 daily and 75 Sunday copies to be sent regularly.

The fishing was good, for Gonzales promised to remit $100 upon receipt of the first shipment of papers. The idea of building up a big circulation in Mexico naturally appealed to ambitious publishers. Maybe some of them wondered how many Mexicans could read at all, let alone read English print.

The postoffice inspectors in Washington, D. C., have issued a fraud order against Gonzales, barring him from the mails.

But Gonzales apparently got what he was after, for the official announcement from the inspectors says: "Senor Gonzales has thus obtained a large quantity of American newspapers for which he paid nothing and has doubtless realized no small revenue through their sale as wrapping paper.

Lately there has been a regular epidemic of frauds worked on Americans by swindlers in foreign countries using our mails.

In the particular case of Gonzales, it occurs to you that a man of his ingenuity was wasting his time on a waste paper swindle. The same cleverness, applied to an honest and useful proposition, would make him increasingly rich.

The criminal mind, however, seems to have a peculiar warp that makes the getting of wealth by crooked means seem the easiest way. On the law of averages, it is easier to get rich honestly than dishonestly.

You can picture Gonzales, sitting around for months or even years, rolling shuck cigarets and running his resourceful brain high-speed until he figured out his scheme.

It is almost astounding, the extent to which the human brain will resort to get something for nothing. In other words, to "get by" without honest, useful endeavor.

It is true of swindlers. And it is true of most of us, especially the swindlers' victims. Wasting so much time, trying to get something for nothing, is what keeps many people poor. There's not enough time left for really productive effort.

Day-dreams, unless curbed within reasonable bounds, have the same effect as chloroform.

STABILIZING MATRIMONY

Senator Capper, having done his best to stabilize the farming business has now set out to stabilize matrimony.

Acting for the General Federation of Women's Clubs, he has introduced a bill in the Senate providing for a federal marriage and divorce law and a resolution proposing an enabling constitutional amendment, so that such a law, when passed, would meet the tests of the courts.

News articles have said of this proposed law that it would make divorce more difficult. That is hardly true. Five reasons for divorce would be recognized and these while not as liberal as those of Nevada, for example, would work little hardship on any couple to whom a "revoke of the yoke" was absolutely necessary. Non-support for one year could be managed by almost any ingenious man and wife.

The fact that various states refuse to recognize each other's marriage and divorce laws has led to undoubted injustices. Under this uniform law, those who are married in one state will be considered legally married in every other state. Children who are legitimate in one state will be legitimate in all states.

Mixups of property rights will be more easily adjusted.

The proposed new law does not make marriage more difficult than it is now in many states. No one will argue that this is not a good thing. At the present time 17 states have no minority age limit for marriage, while in nine states the legal marriage age for girls is 12 years and for boys 15 years.

There is no prohibition of marriage of the feeble-minded in 19 states, and in 35 states there is no prohibition of intermarriage of the white, black, brown, yellow and red races.

Income Tax Facts. (No. 2)

In the making of his income tax return for the year 1922, a taxpayer, if single, is allowed an exemption of $1,000. A married person, or head of a family, whose net income for the year 1922 was $5,000 or less is allowed an exemption of $2,500. The exemption allowed a married person or head of a family whose net income was in excess of $5,000 is $2,000. A head of a family is a person who actually supports one or more persons living in his or her household who are closely related to him or her by blood, marriage or adoption.

An additional creditof $400 is allowed for each person (other than husband or wife) dependent upon the taxpayer for chief support, if such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self support because mentally or physically defective. A single man whose net income for 1922 was $2,000 and who supports his home an aged mother would have no tax to pay, but nevertheless be required to file a return. The fact that a person's income may be nontaxable by reason of the exemptions does not nullify the requirement to file a return if his income was within the prescribed figures—$1,000 if single and $2,000 if married.

The normal tax is four per cent on the first $4,000 of net income in excess oft he exemptions, and eight per cent on the remaining net income. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing return or in four installments due on or before March 15 June 15, September 15, and December 15.

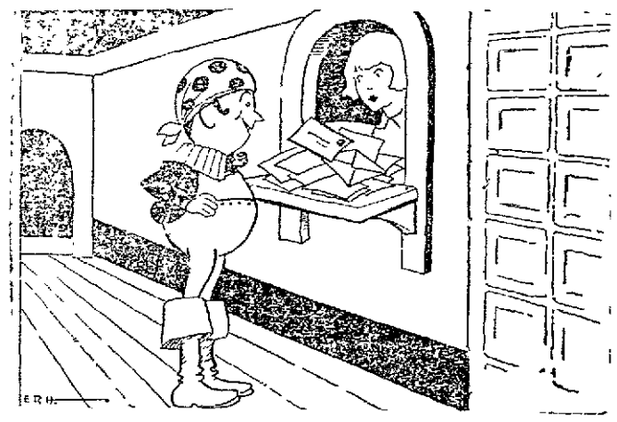
Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton



The next fairy to come to the hickory tree postoffice for his mail was Buskins, the apple tree fairy.

He ran the elevator up to the sky and knew everybody up there, so, of course, he always got a great many letters.

Sure enough there was an enormous stack for him and most of them were valentines.

The first one he opened was from a kite in Kiteland. Buskins read it to Nancy and Nick and Mr Stamps, the postman:

"I like to fly up in the sky
And hope to see you bye and bye.
I'm tied tight to a piece of twine,
But yet I'll be your valentine."

The next was from a balloon in Balloon Land:

"I am light as air and very hollow.
But where you go I'll always follow.
I love you last, I love you first,
With love for you I'll surely burst."

Buskins laughed. "I hope not," he said. "That would be dreadful!"

The next valentine the apple tree fairy opened was from a soap bubble in Soap Bubble Land:

"Nice little fairy man,
Try and catch me if you can,
When I sail up to the sky,
I'll blow a kiss as I pass by."

"That's a pretty one too," said Buskins. "My, oh, my! I never knew I had so many friends."

Then he opened another.

It was from the dandelion fairy up in Thistledown Land. It went:

"I am fleecy and white,
Though my flower was yellow.
I fly to the sky
With my little umbrella.
Now Buskins won't you
Be my valentine? Do!
If you're caught in the rain,
I have quite room for two."

"That's very kind, little friend," said the apple tree fairy. "Sometime I may accept your kind invitation."

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

NO ESCAPE

By Berton Braley

Day by day I'm getting better, I am breaking every fetter
Of the maladies that bothered me of yore!
I who once was going blooey, read the book by Dr Coue,
And I'll never be unhealthy any more!
I'm a faithful fond believer; I have cured the scarlet fever
And the measles and the whooping cough and pip,
And still others—(I won't list 'em)—by the simple Coue system,
Which has filled me full of vigor and of zip.

But, although my many illnesses have fled,
I have got that Coue jingle in my head:
"Day by day, in every way
Every way and day by day"
(Oh, I know it every syllable and letter),
"Day by day, in every way,
Every way, every way,
I am getting better, better,
I am getting better, better!"

Oh, my bean is going balmy, I shall need a guard to calm me
If that Coue stuff keeps running in my brain,
When I'm working, playing, sleeping, to my cerebrum comes creeping
That eternal inescapable refrain.
I am Doctor Coue's debtor that my health is better, better,
Put my coco's going cukoo mighty soon.

All my cerebrations mingle with that everlasting jingle
Of the Coue stuf that coolngly I croon:
Day by day, in every way,
Every way and day by day
(Oh, I know it every syllable and letter)'
Day by day, in every way,
Every way, every way,
I am getting better better,
I am getting better, better!"

THE ONE-MAN WOMAN

By Ruth Agnes Abeling.

KATE WARD widow of.
DAN WARD, has a visitor,
CHINATOWN ALICE, who says Dan Was father of her child,
DOROTHY, Kate is much perturbed She is wooed by
JAMES LATHAM, who helps her to gain possession of a trunk Dan owned. Determined to see if Alice recognizes the trunk, Kate invites her and Dorothy to visit at the home of Kate's father,
JUSTIN PARSONS, with whom the latter lives. The two come, but Alice, seeing the trunk, gives no sign. The women fall to talking of SING LOY, in whose laundry Alice works. She speaks of Sing's kindness but disclaims any thought of using it to her own advantage.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"I couldn't do that," the words came in a matter of fact tone. Alice was merely stating a condition. She didn't regard the thing as heroic. She couldn't impose upon the kindness of Sing Loy and she expected no credit for not doing so.

"I think I must get a little of that from my mother," Alice continued. "I had a wonderful mother."

"You tell me about her," Kate was pused at the mention of Alice's mother, for Alice somehow gave one thei impression of being quite detached from the remainder of the world. It was hard to think of her as a part of any family.

"My mother—" Alice began, and she stopped to smile reminiscently, "how I remember the last time I saw her!— was born on a plantation in Virginia. It must have been a beautiful place because I remember her showing me pictures of it when I was little: pictures of herself, too, and she was beautiful.

"Her home," Alice went on, "must have been the kind of place where a girl has everything she needs and wants. Mother was the only daughter ad of course that made he even more of a pet than she might have been otherwise.

"She was sent north to school. And when she came back she was engaged to someone, someone the whole family approved of and though quite good enough for her.

"Mother never told me about that part. I learned it from things my father said. And I don't know just how the rest happened, but anyhow mother broke her engagement and ran away with my father and my father was just a—bandit—an outlaw."

Alice was silent for quite a space. Kate, too, refrained from speaking.

Finally the girl took up the story again.

"The home my father took mother to as a bride was a little cabin, 'way back in the hills of Virginia. At night the lights in its windows, against the black of the hills must have looked like stars, suspended midway between heaven and earth, so steep was the crest it huddled against and so black the foliage.

"I remember it," reminiscently, "and even yet I love it.

"As a girl—nothing more than a girl—mother went to that cabin and there she lived the remainder of her days. I was her only child. Father was away roving the hills—gone nights and gone days sometimes.

"And mother alone there except for me, in a cabin set down almost in the wilderness, with no carpet on the floor, with very little furniture, with no money, no society, not even any books, somehow managed to stay young and beautiful and, I think, happy, until—"Alice's voice softened and finally she ceased speaking.

WHEN I WOULD REST

At time when night has settled down
And shut away the noisy town,
I take in my head to look
And ramble through an ancient book
A restful hour thus spending,
But surely as I settle there
There comes this order ringing clear
"I wish you'd go at once my dear,
The furnace fire needs tending!"

If I should he me down to doze
And snatch a little sweet repose
To lose myself in pain and strife,
The barter and the trade of life
And all as fate offending:
The moment that I close my eyes
I then am called upon to rise
And she will whisper sitting near:
"I wouldn't go to sleep my dear,
The furnace fire needs tending!"

From sere October until May
The furnace runs the live-long day
Unseen; unhelped by mortal hand
It does its work to beat the band
And keeps the heat ascending;
It seems to need no touch of care
Until I find my easy chair
And settle down, and then I hear
Her one insistent cry: "My dear,
The furnace fire needs tending!"

There is no perfect peace they say
No one untroubled lives his day
Life's irritations catch us all,
The rich and poor, the great and small,
From which there's no defending
Yet why, I wonder, should it be
One restful hour'r denied to me,
Why must this always interfere
When I have settled down? "My dear,
The furnace fire needs tending!"

Good Manners

The suffix "Junior" is not generally used on a woman's calling cards but sometimes it is neccessary. For example, If a woman whose husband bears the same name as his father lives in the same town as the senior couple, it is required to avoid confusion. The mother-in-law does not use the suffix "Senior" unless widowed, in which case she does so if she continues to use her late husband's full name, while the daughter-in-law drops the "Junior" from her cards.

TODAY'S RECIPES

FIRELESS COOKERY STEW

By Bertha E. Shapleigh

To make a stew by the fireless cookery method:

2 lbs. shin of beef
1 lb. fat pork
2 onions
2 cloves or beans of garlic
5 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1 can or 3 cups tomatoes
1 cup potato balls
1cup glazed onions
1 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper

Remove meat from bone and cut into small pieces. Cut pork into small sized pieces. Remove marrow (if any) from bone, or use any other kind of fat, heat it and in it fry the onions, garlic and meat. Sprinkle with the flour, paprika, salt and pepper Add tomatoes and cook 2 minutes.

The potatoes may be balls cut with a vegetable cutter, or just cubes of potatoes. Parboil 10 minutes. Drain and add to meat.

The onions are peeled and parboiled ten minutes, then cooked in one tablespoon butter and sugar until brown. Add to stew, cook 10 minutes. Place stew, closely covered, in the cooker. Let stand four hours Remove from cooker and reheat before serving.

Dumplings may be cooked in the stew at the time of reheating.

SAFETY

A Neighbor's Plan

One of of your friends is quietly building up a snug little fortune. You will be surprised some day and wonder how he did it.

But it is a very simple story.

This man does not have a large income. He has never made a large savings deposit in his life. Small deposits made every week is the secret of this man's success. His savings account shows a steady climb for years.

The average man fails to win because he is not willing to make small savings deposits and make them as often as possible.

Most any one can see the importance of making a big deposit—but many fail to understand the value of the small ones.

Think it over.

MASONS TO BUILD HOME FOR WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

By Associated Press

LOUISVILLE Ky Feb 6—Construction of the new million and a half dollar home for widows and orphans by the Masonic Lodge of Kentucky on the Shelbyville road just out of Louisville will be started early in the spring preparations for initial surveys and locations already having been instituted is announced here

The plant is to consist of 18 building grouped in cloverleaf form on a tract consisting of 111 acres of ground Letting of contracts is the next step contemplated

With the decision of the Court of Appeals that the deed held by the Masons to the site is clear all obstacles to carrying on with the project are said to have been eliminated The tract cost $72000

Tentative plans call for administration industrial power and workshops buildings a laundry an infirmary school building superintendent home and eight dormitories with a capacity for sixty children each There will be a main dining hall

A feature declared to be an innovation will be an auxiliary underground passageway encircling the entire plant and leading from the children dormitories to the dining hall This is planned as protection for the children in inclement weather

According to James Garnett chairman of the committee the present plans will require about half of the 111 acre tract leaving the remainder for future improvements It was said that playgrounds a lake with swimming accomodations baseball diamond and fields for other sports would be installed later

AMERICAN NATIONAL PARKS JOINED TO CANADA BY NEW ROAD CONNECTING BANFF TO WINDERMERE VALLEY

Yellowstone has become a national institution for transcontinental touring and five million persons last year are recorded as having sought youth and health by whirling from one national park to another Boston to the Pacific Coast by motor is getting to be as casual as train travel With a camp outfit tied to the running boards and a few additional auto parts the motorists are able to dress in their sports clothes throw care to the wind and search out Nature with the help of a little gasoline

Hotels are only used on both nights as the chief fun is to pitch the tent in the open and cook over a camp fire or as is the case throughout the West over specially built camp stoves established in the open places Rustic camps are also placed in most of the national parks where motorists may rest a few days or weeks, in cabins rented at a moderate price and within a short walk of a community house and dining hall

The Canadian Pacific Rockies are this year to be opened to all such motor tourists for the Canadian Government in cooperation with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has completed the Banff-Windermere automobile road which throws open Banff, Lake Louise and Windermere Valley to motorists.

Bungalow camps are being planned at convenient and beautiful points to accommodate just such travel in addition to the regular travel which comes by rail

The new road will be formally opened on June 30th and will permit the whole tide of motor traffic up and down the Pacific Coast to travel from San Diego to Portland, thence up the Columbia Highway to Spokane and so on, through the Canadian border, up the Windermere Valley, through the Canadian Pacific Rockies to the famous resorts of Banff and Lake Louise. From Lake Louise the motorists may go to the Valley of Ten Peaks and Moraine Lake. This is entirely new country for the autoist approaching from the West, although the road from the East, Calgary to Lake Louise, through Banff, has been in operation two years.

The connecting of this link makes it possible for motorists from the East to tour all the National Parks of the United States and visit those in the Canadian Pacific Rockies as well. The roads from one end of the country to the other are generally excellent. The cost of such motor trips is cheaper than staying at home, say the motor tourists.

BIBLES FOR ALL NATIONS IN WORLD-WIDE DISTRIBUTION

CHICAGO.—Bibles have a larger distribution among farmers and the people of towns and villages in the United States and Canada than among city dwellers.

This was the statement here of John A. Hertel, Chicago publisher, at the convention of the Subscription Book Publishers association that has launched an international campaign to raise the standards of the subscription book industry and improve its house-to-house selling methods.

Mr. Hertel, whose firm is a large publisher of Bibles, presented the following facts about the Scriptures:

More than 660,000,000 Bibles have been printed in all languages since the invention of printing.

Figuring the population of the world at 1,500,000,000 and the number of families at 300,000,000 all the Bibles ever printed would give each family more than two copies.

Eight million Bibles are printed in the United States annually, and 35,000,000 throughout the world.

The American Bibl Society distributes 5,000,000 Bibles every year.

The British and Foreign Bible Society of England distributes 10,000,000 annually.

Eighty million people in the United States in an estimated population of 115,000,000 own Bibles.

Thirty-five million are without Bibles.

Of the 23,000,000 families in the United States, 15,800,000 families own Bibles and 7,100,000 families are without Bibles.

"I believe," said Mr. Hertel, "the great majority of the 35,000,000 people in the United States without Bibles have had the benefit of Bible instruction. The American people are essentially religious. House-to-house salesmen who sell Bibles are welcomed in every home. This in itself is a tribute to the religious sentiment of the nation."

FRANK THOMAS TO INSANE ASYLUM

By Associated Press.

EDDYVILLE, Feb. 6—Frank Thomas, Louisville, slayer of Lee Arbegust, and who was saved from electrocution by a jury which found him of unsound mind, was taken from the penitentiary here yesterday for a trip to the state asylum for insane at Hopkinsville where he will be under observation for a month. Thomas asked guards if they were taking him out to hang him. "If they are going to kill me," said Thomas, "do not let them hang me." Thomas was sentenced to be electrocuted early yesterday, but eleventh hour efforts of his attorneys resulted in a lunacy hearing before the jury.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness are often timessympjtoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

ASSESSMENT OF CITY TAXES PROGRESSES WELL

Assessment of city taxes for this year which was begun last month is progressing rapidly though it will be several weeks yet before the work is finished. It is thought that the assessment this year will be much larger than that of 1922 on account of the many improvements which have been made in the city. The rate still stands at $2.30 per hundred and it is not thought that it will be changed. The assessments for this year will be completed and the books ready by June 1, according to the present plans.

Drink Water If Kidneys Hurt

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back pains or Bladder bothers.

Too much meat may produce uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back, or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to help neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to help to keep the kidneys clean and active. Drink plenty of water at all times.
